A MONTANA EXECUTION.

Harry Roberts Pays the Penalty for a Deliberate Murder.

St. Louis, Aug. 23.—[By the Associated Press.]—Harry Roberts, 35, of the St. Louis Butte, Monday says Harry Roberts was hanged today for the murder of J. W. Crawford. The drop fell at 1:12, and Roberts' neck was broken by the fall.

Strong pressure was brought to bear by the Grand Army men and a number of citizens to have Roberts' life spared, but the governor's pardonment and it was not until 3:45 this morning that the condemned man abandoned all hope of pardon. When the sheriff read the message from Gov. Whitfield, assuring to the prisoner that he would be pardoned, Roberts did notaken to the last, and said he had lived, a cool and undetermined man.

Roberts' crime was the unprovoked killing of Crawford on May 14th last. Crawford was a teamster under Roberts, and the two were quarreling and Roberts shot him while drinking.

A somewhat dramatic incident was connected with the burial of Crawford. His friends, who were a large and able man, and his relatives all lived at Butler, Mo., and telegrams were sent asking that the body be disinterred and sent to the home of his remains. No answer was received for two days, and the funeral was prepared when Crawford's remains were en route to the cemetery, when the Coroner came rushing from the street with a telegram from Butler, Mo., asking that the body be sent to have the remains, but were too poor to pay the expenses of embalming and shipping.

The Little Stallion Brings His Record Down to Nine-Two Day at Morris Park and Saratoga.

By Telegraph to The Times.
CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—[By the Associated Press.] There was a great day's sport at Washington Park today. Axtell, the phenomenal 3-year-old, trotted to beat his own record, and did so, making a mile in 2:18 and another 5-year-old stallion, Alsterton, the third heat of a race, made the circuit the track in 2:18½. Axtell's mile off three-quarters of a second from his former made to get Dunning pardoned, but, for some reason or other, the attempts prove fruitless. Dunning was allowed to languish that even that was better than the best previous performance by a 3 or a 4-year-old.

It is also within the record of the 1910s that the stallion stands as the best record for a stallion of any age. The circumstances under which this record was made are likely to give rise to endless controversy. It was made in a race record in a race or against time, and Earl MacGregor was on the card. He was the only horse to be named, and also announced that Axtell would go beat his own record. The first heat served as a warm-up for the second. In the next heat, that in which the record was made, distance was waived and Axtell hit the wire first. The second heat was run again from the upper turn to the finish line. Earl MacGregor being far behind and out of the running, Axtell was not even mentioned. He was trotted fairly and without a show to about 70 feet of the wire, when owing to a slight hitch in the harness he was stopped and the little stallion was started into a run and galloped under the wire. Whether or not he was aided by the fact that he was not chased by any other horse is not known. The summary of the races follows:

The Charge Against Justice Field to Be Dismissed Today.

Other Coast News—The Sweetwater Dam to Be Turned Over—A Ruling in the Blythe Case, Etc.

By Telegram to The Times. STOCKTON, Aug. 23.—[By the Associated Press.] The case of David Neagle was again called before Justice Swain today for preliminary examination, and Sheriff Cunningham again made return that he was unable to produce the prisoner, as he was in the custody of United States officers. The case was continued until tomorrow.

District Attorney Waite is expected to dismiss the charge against Justice Field tomorrow, when the Neagle case will be called again in Justice of the Peace Swain's court. Mrs. Terry left this afternoon for San Francisco, after an interview with the District Attorney.

TERRY WAS ARMED. SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—[By the Associated Press.] Attorney Charles Ackerman, one of Neagle's counsel, said that he had an important witness for the defense, in the person of Henry C. Clary of Fresno county, who states positively that he saw Mrs. Terry remove a bowie knife from her husband's body and see that he was unarmed. The attorney said two or three other witnesses would corroborate the statement made by Clary.

Mrs. Sarah Althea Terry arrived here this evening from Stockton, and had a long consultation with her counsel, William Turner and ex-Judge Mazure, concerning the legal complication growing out of Judge Terry's death. Judge Mazure subsequently said he was satisfied that Mrs. Terry only sought redress through the courts, and had no idea of attempting any violence. He did not think she would be in attendance at the hearing in the Circuit Court on Tuesday, and he certainly would not approve of such course.

CUNNINGHAM DEMURS. Sheriff Cunningham of San Joaquin county filed a demurrer in the United States Circuit Court this afternoon, in which he took exception to the traverse made by Deputy Marshal Neagle in his petition for habeas corpus. The Sheriff asks that Neagle be returned to his custody to be tried according to the laws of the State of California for the killing of Judge Terry.

COLLISION OF TRAINS.

Fatal Railway Accident in Eastern Oregon.

PORTLAND (Or.), Aug. 23.—[By the Associated Press.] A report has reached here of the wreck of a freight train and three engines on the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company's line at Meacham in Eastern Oregon. The train consisted of one engine and three freight cars. One engine is a complete wreck and the others are badly smashed.

The east-bound freight was heavily laden with a double-header attached was going up Blue Mountain at the rate of 15 miles an hour. Shortly after the leading engine had passed through the tunnel, Engineer Barnhart saw the engine of the west-bound freight coming at about a 10-mile gait. In an instant the two engines collided. Frank McConnell, the fireman, was caught between the engines and instantly killed. In the concussion the two engines were hurled together, and the second engine crowded forward, pushed the first in front to one side, and the rear one square on top of the leading engine. In the reaction it rolled to one side, which freed Barnhart, who had been caught in his cab by the crash, and narrowly escaped death.

Engineer McLean was badly scalded on the hands, and the fireman was injured on the head. Engineer Harris received a severe cut on the cheek.

A NEW CABLE.

The Plan of a Proposed Line to Australia.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—[By the Associated Press.] The committee appointed recently by the local Chamber of Commerce to investigate the feasibility of laying an ocean telegraph cable from this port to Australia, has reported in favor of the project, and estimates the cost of the cable line from San Francisco to New Zealand by way of Honolulu and Tutuila at $10,000,000. It is urged that the line would be a paying investment, as it would secure the whole of the Hawaiian business, all business of the Pacific Islands centering at the Samoan group, and all of the United States business with the Australian colonies and New Zealand, together with a large percentage of the colonial business with the United Kingdom and Europe.

The cost of cabling from Sydney to London, it is estimated, would be reduced to 8 cents per word. It is suggested that the United States Government grant a subsidy for the purpose to the extent of guaranteeing 3 per cent. per annum on an investment of $10,000,000, bonds to be issued by a company incorporated under the laws of the United States.

A HAPPY MARRIED LIFE.

Mrs. Gladstone a True Helpmate to Her Husband for 23 Years.

(London Special.) Mrs. Gladstone's career as a wife and mother has been pointed to for years as a model. The dependence of husband and wife on each other in all circumstances has been noted. The statesman has found in his spouse a true helpmate, who sympathized with all his aspirations, with confidence in all his movements of his long life of political activity, has looked to the future to bring success in all his projects and vindication of his motives. An amusing anecdote is told in illustration of this wisely unswerving faith in the late great statesman, when the appeal to the country had resulted adversely to Mr. Gladstone's Irish policy. Mrs. Gladstone was found somewhat depressed by a visitor at Hawarden Castle, while the Grand Old Man was sorely at work in his study upstairs.

"Never mind," said the visitor, sympathetically. "There is one above who will bring things right; in his own good time."

"He will bring things right; but he will forget all about his lunch if I don't call him down."

Mrs. Gladstone nursed all her children herself. She looked in which she, from infancy and cared for them in every way, as if she had not been the lady of the castle, who was able to command any amount of assistance that she might require. With their little ones Mr. Gladstone has always been the most tender and affectionate of parents. When out of office Mr. Gladstone taught his elder children Italian. The girls were educated at home by governesses, English, French and German. The boys all went to Eton and afterward to Oxford. Blessed herself with a perfect constitution and unbroken health, Mrs. Gladstone has watched over her husband with the skill of a nurse and the vigilance of a guardian angel. She knows the limits of her own skill to a hair's breadth, and the moment they are passed she calls in the doctor. Nor is it only in the moments of the body in which she has displayed invaluable qualities. She has carefully kept Mr. Gladstone shielded from all the minor worries of life.

Mr. Gladstone is fully sensible of what he owes to his wife, nor has he made any secret of the fact that his continuance in public service was dependent upon the health of his partner in life. Had she broken down and become an invalid he would have retired from the service of his country. It would have been impossible, he felt, to carry on the work of the Government, and at the same time to have attended to his duty to his wife, nor could he have done the latter if she, who had been throughout a ministering spirit, instead of aiding him, had become a tax upon his vitality. The self-denial of Mrs. Gladstone is beyond all praise. It doubtless seems dazzling and imposing to the wife of a prime minister, or even the wife of the leader of the opposition, but the wife herself has a somewhat hard time of it. The absorption of a prime minister in the work of the nation leaves him very little time for domestic intercourse. Mrs. Gladstone has been known to remark that when Mr. Gladstone was in office in London, during the season, it was quite a treat to be invited to a friend's house to dinner together with her husband. She always then tried to get seated next to him. "When," she said, "it is at least possible for me to have conversation with my husband; otherwise I see nothing of him."

Lincoln's Religion.

The forthcoming (August) number of the Century will contain a chapter on "Lincoln and the Churches" in the Lincoln History, by Messrs. Hay and Nicolay, from which the following is an extract from advance sheets:

"He was a man of profound and intense religious feeling. We have no purpose of attempting to formulate his creed; we question if he himself ever did so. There have been swift witnesses, judging from expressions uttered in his callow youth, have called him an atheist, and others who, with the most laudable intentions, have remembered improbable conversations which they bring forward to prove at once his orthodoxy and their intimacy with him. But leaving aside these apocryphal evidences, we have only to look at his authentic public and private utterances to see how deep and strong in all the latter part of his life was the current of his religious thought and emotion. He continually invited and appreciated, at their highest value, the prayers of good people.

"The pressure of the tremendous problems by which he was surrounded; the awful moral significance of the conflict in which he was the chief combatant; the overwhelming sense of personal responsibility, which never left him for an hour; all contributed to produce, in a temperament naturally serious and predisposed to a spiritual view of life and conduct, a sense of reverent acceptance of the guidance of a Superior Power. From that morning when, standing with the falling snowflakes on the railway car at Springfield, he asked the prayers of his neighbors in those touching phrases whose echo rose that night in invocations from thousands of family altars, to that memorable hour when, on the steps of the Capitol, he humbled himself before his Creator in the sublime words of the second inaugural, there is not an expression known to have come from his lips or his pen but proves that he held himself answerable in every act of his career to a more august tribunal than any on earth.

"The fact that he was not a communicant of any church, and that he was singularly reserved in regard to personal religious life, gives only the greater force to these striking proofs of his profound reverence and faith."

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 22.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] In your article of this date, headed "Enchanted City," I beg to correct the statement "that it was caused by the rank carelessness of the Board of Public Works," as I now understand that the resolution "granting the Union Construction Company the permission to remove the earth on Brooklyn street, from Swift street to the city line," was offered by one of the Council and passed without its being referred to the Board of Public Works.

PASADENA NEWS.

THE MOST ORDERLY CITY ON THE PACIFIC COAST.

What the Council Will Do—A Horse Transaction—Six Months in the Police Department—Local Intelligence—Here and There—Personal Gossip.

PASADENA, Aug. 23.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] There is anything but a rush of business in the police department; in fact, the officers have been enjoying a veritable vacation while on their beats. This city is among the most orderly in the United States, and during the past year there has been but one hitch, even among the officers themselves. Marshal McLane has kept his docket clear of existing complaints, and what few there have been, disposed of them in short order. Internal dissensions among the officers of the law are an unbecoming complaint this year. It is a striking contrast over last year, when the Shaw-Mundell affair occupied the attention of the Council nearly eight weeks.

The city has now two night officers, Strang and Clapper, while during the day Officer Robinson does the rounds. The Marshal and the Constables also pay some attention to the city's department during the day.

The only unpleasantness which has sprung up during the past three months has been six arrests of drunks for violation of the anti-liquor ordinance. These arrests were effected through the employment by the city of an informer, spy or smelling committee.

The police receive better salaries than in most towns of the same population in the East, but lack uniformity in dress, and display a lack of drill. The salaries are $75 a month. The informer is paid $25 for each conviction and the special agent $15.

During the past year, or just about 11 months ago, a police commission was organized, the Shaw muddle proving that even a small police force cannot get along harmoniously.

From the docket, a small book generally locked up in the Marshal's office, the following entries were obtained:

During February, the shortest month, occurred the largest number of arrests—for disturbing the peace, 1; drunks, 4; vagrancy, 17; total, 22.

In March there were four drunks and five arrests for vagrancy. Total, nine.

In April four box-car tourists came before the bar of justice, two drunks, one for disturbance and one for assault. Total, eight.

During May there was one arrest for stealing, one for vagrancy, one for drunkenness, one for malicious mischief and one for disturbing the peace. Total, six.

In June five young men were arrested for riding their bicycles on the sidewalks, 18 Chinamen got pulled for gambling, two for fighting and one for vagrancy. Total, 21.

During July there was one arrest for petit larceny and one for drunkenness and disturbance in a church. Total, two.

In the past six months there were 68 arrests, with nothing so far to hear from this month. July 21st was the date of the last arrest. These figures show Pasadena to be a very orderly city.

LOCAL MENTION.

C. M. Phillips, C. C. Brown and A. C. Mills were before the Board of Equalization this morning for a reduction of assessment.

W. L. Vail of the Star is the proud papa of a nine-pound baby boy, who came into the Garden of Eden this morning.

The fire ladders were out for drill and engine test at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Their work shows considerable improvement.

The preliminaries for the construction of the M. Wilson tollroad are still being arranged. The absence of a property-owner delays the securing of a complete right of way.

Still the thermometer has an upward tendency. At noon today it stood just 100° in the shade. However, the heat was not particularly felt, nor near as dead and suffocating as in the East.

An arrangement has been concluded to run a special theater train to Los Angeles on Thursday of next week to give the people in this city an opportunity to attend the Rose Coghlan performance. The town is being billed today.

A HORSE IN COURT.

A very interesting and peculiar horse case was tried before Justice Vanderlip and a jury of six men this afternoon. About ten days ago Kellogg Bros. brought suit against W. B. Quantrell for an alleged debt of $80.

The case was decided in favor of the Kelloggs, but appealed. An attachment was made on the second-hand stock of Quantrell, and among the many things sold the Constable offered for sale a $200 horse valued at one-fourth that sum.

While conducting the auction the Constable was handed a slip of paper. On unfolding it he found it was a demand by Mary J. Quantrell, wife of the defendant, for the possession of the animal, which she claimed was her property.

That officer said he had the slip of paper and sold the horse from under the hammer. Another lawsuit followed, brought by the wife for $150, the value of the animal. One witness and the Constable testified that the "plug" was worth only $50. Metcalf & McLachlan appeared for the plaintiff and G. A. Gibbs, Esq., for the defense.

The only question to be decided was the ownership of the horse, but the defense attempted to show up the rottenness of the transaction in a man giving to his wife a horse for a loan four times as great as its value. The Court did not look at it in this light and overruled the attorney's intermeddling with private affairs. At 5 o'clock the case was given to the jury, who rendered a verdict, after being out about a half hour, in favor of Mary J. Quantrell for $100. An appeal will be taken.

HERE AND THERE.

The total valuation of the city assessment this year foots up $7,229,580. A special meeting of the local Board of Trade is announced for next Tuesday afternoon.

The school question will be definitely settled before the 1st of September. Justice Vanderlip of beautiful and rosette Lamanda is presiding over Justice (an Oron) court during his absence in Los Angeles on business.

The stock of shoes of J. C. Fitzhenry was sold under attachment this afternoon to M. G. Dandridge for $300. Quite a party of Pasadenaians went to Los Angeles this evening in the swim at the Natatorium.

An old sailor and experienced navigator residing at the St. Nicholas is taking up a party of prospectors to make an early trip to Greytown, on the line of the Nicaragua Canal.

A Tribune Boomerang. LOS ANGELES, Aug. 22.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] I was much startled at the appearance of the following item in the Tribune of this date:

"The unhappy, glaring and indisputable fact is that there is now, and for months has been, more diphtheria in Los Angeles than any other city in California, and for the reason that we are without efficient sewage."

To relieve my fears as to the correctness of the statement, I interviewed the following-named citizens, with the results stated.

Dr. H. S. Orme: I deprecate such statements as to the healthfulness of our city. The papers should be more careful of their utterances.

Dr. J. P. Widney: I think the Tribune's statement is entirely incorrect.

Al Workman, Esq., Boyle Heights: I know of no cases of diphtheria in my vicinity.

Julius Lyons, Esq., Temple street: No case of diphtheria known to me in my neighborhood.

C. N. Wilson, Esq., North Fort street: I know of no cases of the disease mentioned in the city.

A. M. Rawson, grocer, Spring street: Do not know of any cases of diphtheria. Live on Beaudry avenue, near Ward. Know a thousand families, and feel quite sure the disease cannot be prevalent.

Dr. Fulton, resides in the Hollenbeck Hotel: Know of no cases of diphtheria.

D. V. Waldron, 30 Laurel street: Don't know of a case.

John Taylor, 718 South Olive street: Do not know of a case of diphtheria.

R. H. Hewitt, 927 South Hill street: Have not heard of a case of diphtheria in my part of the city.

J. S. Julien, 423 South Los Angeles street: Know of no cases of diphtheria.

Mrs. Cuddy, corner of Tenth street and Denver avenue, reports no known case of the disease in her locality.

H. S. Parcells: No cases of diphtheria known to me.

R. B. Haines, 411 South Fort street: Have no knowledge that the disease is prevalent. Do not know of a single case.

Were the disease as prevalent as intimated by the Tribune, it is strange the above people residing in different parts of the city have no knowledge of it.

ANNUAL TRADE NUMBER,

—CONTAINING—A COMPLETE REVIEW OF THE YEAR

Fifty-six Large Pages. Equivalent to a Two Hundred Page Book.

The Annual Trade Number of THE TIMES, now ready, is the most complete and interesting publication of that character ever published in Los Angeles.

NOTABLE FEATURES.—It contains a business review of the year, embracing a great mass of valuable facts bearing on the city and country; a thorough exposition of the natural resources, mineral, vegetable, commercial and climatic; a review of the rise and progress of the boom, with solid proofs that the country is now in better condition than it was during the height of the real-estate excitement; a carefully compiled exposition of the varied inducements which Southern California offers to the health-seeker, the home-seeker and the tourist; besides a number of interesting and valuable special articles on pertinent subjects. It contains more solid information about the country than could be crowded into the compass of a hundred long letters, and for a few cents and the expenditure of a few minutes' time in writing the address you can send a friend more information than you could write in a month, even if you had all the facts at hand. For a dollar you can supply ten families in the frozen East with information that may lead them to join the army of pilgrims to Southern California, to their own and this country's advantage. Thus, whether viewed from the standpoint of friendship or self-interest, it is a book that no better use can be made of a dollar than by purchasing the rewritten copy of the great Annual Trade Number of THE TIMES. Not one-tenth of the pleasure can be bestowed in any other way for the same amount of money.

THE 24TH OF AUGUST
MILESTONES ALONG THE GREAT
HIGHWAY OF HISTORY.
The Battle of Bladensburg Which Led to the Burning of Washington City—St. Bartholomew's
Was Flayed Alive—Massacre

Today is, for Americans, an anniversary of humiliation. The battle of Bladensburg, which was followed by the burning of Washington, was fought on August 24, 1814. The Secretary of War, Armstrong, had been frequently warned by George Winder that Washington was in imminent peril of struction by the enemy, but the Secretary, in his obstinate blindness, refused to give heed to the advice. When Cochrane appeared in the Chesapeake Winder was given, when too late, a carte blanche to do what he pleased. A flotilla, consisting of a schooner, thirteen barges, was run up the Potomac River to defend Washington. Ross, with 5000 British troops, landed to destroy this flotilla. Seeing chance of escape, Barney blew up flotilla and joined Winder, upon Ross pressed forward toward Washington, Winder having but 3000 mostly undisciplined militia, to oppose this large force. On the night of the 24th the British lay within 10 miles of the capital. Uncertain whether the attack on Fort Washington would be successful, Winder placed a detachment of 1000 men at Bladensburg, four miles off on the 24th he was informed by a courier that the enemy were marching on Bladensburg. The overwhelming numbers of the enemy made the great, but a sharp engagement followed. Although Winder had men in all, they were so scattered only part of them was available. His 26 pieces of cannon, 20 were six-pounders. As the enemy pressed down the hill to the bridge, they

At first repulsed they pushed across stream in the face of a deadly fire. A terrible conflict ensued, when a shower of rockets caused the militia to break and run. This disposed of first and second American. Barney and his flotilla then met charge, and were at length driven back. The Americans lost 26 killed and wounded, while the British lost 500 killed including many officers.

On August 24, 1778, New Jersey accepted and ratified the old Articles of Confederation.

dom there by being flayed alive, Bartholomew. A knife consequently became the emblem of St. Bartholomew, as may be seen on many of the old Clog almanacs, formerly in use in the Abbey of Croylund there used to be a distribution of knives on St. Bartholomew's day, in honor of the saint.

THE MASSACRE.

August 24, 1572, is the date

St. Bartholomew massacre. In religious event bearing this name mainly an expression of the with which Protestantism in was regarded in the sixteenth ce but the private views of the mother, the atrocious Catherine Medici, were also largely conc After the death of her husband, II., she had an incessant struggl the reigns of the boy king sons, who succeeded, for the au power. It seemed within her grasp, but for the influence which the King, not leader, Admiral Coligni, had acquired over the mind of Charles. This young man was a semi-mystic and was never happy excepting in taking the most violent exercises, hunting for 12 or 14 hours continually, hunting the same stag for two or three days, only stopping to eat and rest, but a few hours during the night. At his mother's absence he had with Coligni to assist the Dutch and the Spaniards. When Catherine turned, she found herself surrounded by the Huguenot leader, who the King kept half the night in his room, calculating the number of troops and laying down plans for marching. From this moment the death of Coligni was determined. The occasion of the marriage of Henry of Navarre and Princess Margaret was seized upon; all the nots of rank followed their leader to Paris; a gallery was erected for the outside Notre Dame, and all was cord and festivity between the warring factions, but on the 22d Coligny shot at from a window by a follower of the Duke de Guise and wounded in the arm; his party was highly indignant at the outrage, crowded around the house and threats of vengeance were heard: these were used by the relatives to convince him that he was in all around him were in danger. The immediate destruction, if he did not give a general massacre. The leader of the Guise faction agreed to execute the decree; the bell of St. Germain l'Auxerrois was to toll at midnight the signal. From the balcony of the Louvre, which opened out of the room and looked into the Seine, the guilty mother and trembling accomplices watched the slaughter. The aff

The great London saturnalia, the "Peep Show," the "Smithfield fair," on the anniversary of the execution of King St. Bartholomew's day, died a natural death in 1855, after flourishing for nearly a century. Originally held for trade purposes, it had long survived its original purpose, and had become a public nuisance.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

There is an undelivered telegram at the Western Union Telegraph office for Frank Rielly.

Hale, the man accused of rape, was to have been tried in Justice Savage's court yesterday, but the case was postponed until next Tuesday.

Precinct presidents of the anti-sewer bond campaign are particularly requested to be present at a meeting at the headquarters this evening.

Lem Goon and Ju Jim, a couple of Chinamen, were taken in on Downey avenue yesterday afternoon for violation of the license ordinance. They deposited $10 each for their appearance today.

There was no meeting of the Park Commission last night. Messrs. Bryant and Hubbell are still absent in the East, and as the commissioners are out of the city at the suburban watering places, it is impossible to get a quorum.

Samuel Wiggins, a lad about 14 years old, was drowned at Newport yesterday. He rode a horse into the surf to assist in netting in a fishing net, and was thrown from the animal's back. At last reports the body had not been found.

The Grand Jury was in session all day yesterday, and it is believed that several indictments will be found today in the Lauterbach case. It is whispered on the streets that several of the parties who are hanging in the scales are prominent citizens.

F. Aguilar and José Penyan were arrested on New High street, yesterday between 12 and 1 o'clock, by Officer Dugan, and locked up for fighting. In the afternoon they were fined $5 each by Judge Stanton, which was paid and the men were discharged.

Yesterday S. O. Brown tendered his resignation as vice-president, general manager and director of the Redondo Beach Company and collateral organizations, which was accepted, and R. G. Brewer was elected in his stead. Mr. Brown left yesterday morning for England in the interest of the same companies.

John Conroy, the tough taken up in connection with the Swigart robbery, and who also figured in another case of highway robbery on New High street, some weeks ago, was yesterday sentenced to 200 days' imprisonment in the County Jail, which sentence was suspended 24 hours to enable him to get out of town.

Defective Loomis last night caught a Chinaman, named Hui, who was around on New High street with seven or eight window weights concealed under his blouse. As he could not explain why he was making a walking hardware store of himself, he was brought to the police station and locked up on suspicion. The detective thinks that the articles were stolen.

Yesterday an information was filed in Judge Cheney's court against a man named Ritchman, who is accused of having killed a man named William Winter in San Pedro on the 23d of July last. Both men were in love with a dancehouse woman, and quarreled, when Ritchman drew a knife and stabbed Winter several times. The wounded man died a day or two ago.

Marriage licenses were issued to the following persons yesterday by the County Clerk: Louis de Mars, native of Indiana, 17 years of age, to V. B. Hollingsworth, native of Indiana, aged 27 years; William H. Murray, native of Ireland, aged 32 years, to Susan E. Mayne, native of Ireland, aged 23 years; Joseph N. Nicholson, native of Sweden, aged 35 years, to S. C. Polmorth, native of Sweden, aged 35 years.

Mrs. McFadden, the mother of the child who figured in the sensational Abbott rape case a few days ago, was arrested yesterday on a charge of disturbing the peace, on the complaint of Johnny Abbott, the defendant in the case. Abbott claimed that the woman was drunk, and swore at him when he passed her house. In the afternoon Mrs. McFadden was brought before Judge Stanton who fined her $10, and suspended payment during good behavior.

The following were the arrivals at the County Jail yesterday: Richard White, misadventurer, Pomona, 10 days; Thomas Burns, robbery and assault with a deadly weapon, held to answer; John Baker, battery, 50 days, and held to answer for robbery; James Williams, resisting an officer, 50 days, and held to answer for robbery; Ike Ernst, vagrancy, 90 days, and Chew Lem, disturbing the peace, 150 days, all from the city. At 7 o'clock last evening there were 91 prisoners in the tanks.

At a meeting held yesterday of the stockholders of the Postoffice Savings Bank and Trust Company the following officers and directors were elected: J. B. Lanker, president; Charles Foreman, vice-president; Frank W. De Van, cashier. The board of directors is composed of J. B. Lanker, Charles Foreman, A. H. Denker, G. J. Griffith and J. J. Schallert. The bank will open for business on Monday, September 24, at their banking house, No. 325 South Main street.

A correspondent writes to know if it is Fire Commissioner Jake Kuhrtz who has accepted the position as foreman of company No. 3. For the benefit of the anxious inquirer it might be well to state that Mr. Kuhrtz's position as a member of the commission would prevent him accepting the place, even if he desired to do so, which he does not, as his finances are in such condition as to render him independent of a salaried position of any kind, much less one of that kind. Mr. Kuhrtz is, however, one of the oldest firemen in the city, and takes a deep interest in everything pertaining to the department.

F. D. White, a fakir who runs a "striking machine" and H. Brown, who says that he is a gentleman, got into a fight last evening near the corner of First and Los Angeles streets, over a game of cards. Brown accusing White of having robbed him, though he did not say just how the robbery was committed. Sergt. Jeffries brought both of the belligerents to the police station, where they were locked up. On being searched, a big silver shooter was found in Mr. Brown's pocket, and it is more than probable that that high-toned gentleman will also have to answer to a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Among the arrivals at the Hotel Hollenbeck Thursday night was Mrs. E. J. Otto of Oakland. Mrs. Otto is en route to Vinia, I. T., where she has been called to look after her three children, circumstances having arisen which demand her presence at once. She says that she is in a rather straitened financial condition, but is determined to try and make the trip. Her husband, she says, was a member of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, which order has assisted her in Sacramento, and that her father is a Mason, from whom she also looks for aid. She says that she will remain in Los Angeles for a few days, when she will continue her journey. It is possible to raise money enough, get her children and then return to California.
